

AMY WALISZEWSKA

Developer Relations | Technical Content | Community | AI Adoption

SUMMARY

Developer relations professional with eight years in developer-facing roles and a software engineering background (JavaScript, TypeScript, Rust). I write the documentation, tutorials and talks that help developers adopt a product, run workshops and hackathons, and manage developer communities on Discord and Twitter. Recently applied the same approach to AI: user research, adoption strategy and quality ownership for internal LLM platforms used by about 2,000 people. I work daily with AI coding tools (Cursor, Claude, Warp) and choose the model and tool that fits the task, including GPT and Gemini.
